RESOLUTION NO. 23-03

A RESOLUTION APPROVING THE DISSOLUTION OF THE GATEWAY
RECREATION AND WELLNESS SPECIAL SERVICE DISTRICT

WHEREAS, on December 17, 2018, the Duchesne County Board of County Commissioners enacted Ordinance 18-368, an Ordinance to establish a special service district to be known as the Gateway Recreation and Wellness District; (hereinafter referred to as the "District"), pursuant to Utah's Special Service District Act (hereinafter referred to as the "Act"); and

WHEREAS, the District was created after the County received a petition proposing the establishment of a service district to provide recreation and wellness services for the southwestern area of the County. Said petition met all the requirements of the Act, and the District was subsequently created; and

WHEREAS, the District proposed to enact a tax shortly after its creation; however, 74.8% of the electorate opposed the tax; and

WHEREAS, with there being no funding for the District, the District became inactive and inoperable; and

WHEREAS, Utah Code § 17D-1-601 states that the legislative body of the county that created a special service district may, by resolution, approve the dissolution of the special service district if the legislative body determines that the special service district is no longer needed for the purposes for which it was created; and

WHEREAS, the County Commission determines that the District is no longer needed because the District has not been an active special service district since its creation approximately four years ago; and

WHEREAS, the District has no bonds, notes, or other obligations that are outstanding or unpaid and no existing contractual obligations to provide services.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of Duchesne County Commissioners, that

The Gateway Recreation and Wellness District is hereby dissolved.

Upon the Utah State Lieutenant Governor's issuance of a certificate of dissolution under Utah Code §67-1a-6.5, the District shall be dissolved.

1. The first of these is the fact that the majority of the population of the United States is now living in urban areas. This is a result of the process of urbanization, which has been going on since the beginning of the 20th century. The population of the United States has increased from about 100 million in 1900 to over 200 million in 1950. At the same time, the population of rural areas has decreased from about 100 million in 1900 to about 50 million in 1950. This has led to a concentration of the population in urban areas, which has had a number of important consequences.

2. One of the most important consequences of urbanization is the fact that it has led to the development of a new type of society. In rural areas, the population is usually organized into small, self-sufficient communities. In urban areas, the population is organized into large, complex societies. This has led to the development of a new type of social organization, which is based on the division of labor and the exchange of goods and services. This new type of social organization has led to the development of a new type of economy, which is based on the production and exchange of goods and services.

3. Another important consequence of urbanization is the fact that it has led to the development of a new type of culture. In rural areas, the culture is usually based on the values and traditions of the local community. In urban areas, the culture is usually based on the values and traditions of the larger society. This has led to the development of a new type of culture, which is based on the values and traditions of the larger society. This new type of culture has led to the development of a new type of art, which is based on the values and traditions of the larger society.

4. A third important consequence of urbanization is the fact that it has led to the development of a new type of government. In rural areas, the government is usually based on the values and traditions of the local community. In urban areas, the government is usually based on the values and traditions of the larger society. This has led to the development of a new type of government, which is based on the values and traditions of the larger society. This new type of government has led to the development of a new type of law, which is based on the values and traditions of the larger society.

5. Finally, a fourth important consequence of urbanization is the fact that it has led to the development of a new type of religion. In rural areas, the religion is usually based on the values and traditions of the local community. In urban areas, the religion is usually based on the values and traditions of the larger society. This has led to the development of a new type of religion, which is based on the values and traditions of the larger society. This new type of religion has led to the development of a new type of philosophy, which is based on the values and traditions of the larger society.
